Al Murray joined Warren Averett in 1995 and has over 30 years of experience serving closely-held businesses with practical solutions as if he were the owner of the business. He consults with businesses in areas such as entity structure, tax planning, tax compliance with the IRS and cost segregation studies. He serves clients primarily in industries such as manufacturers and distributors, healthcare organizations, real estate and service businesses. He has extensive experience with audits of 401(k) plans. His experience includes 20 years of managing, consulting and performing employee benefit plan audits for private and public companies. Al lives in Birmingham with his wife and daughter.
