

WHAT DOES YOUR COMPANY'S DATA MEAN? WE PROVIDE THE ANSWERS.

When companies need tangible results from key data, but lack the time and expertise, Warren Averett is ready to assist.

Warren Averett's data analysis experts can provide opportunities for you to look at your company's data from a new perspective and provide solutions to issues you may not even know exist. Data extraction can reorganize and/or convert the information from a company's accounting software into a more usable format. With our extraction and analysis experience, we can produce usable data and show your company what the numbers truly mean.

No red tape, complications or confusion,
JUST ANSWERS & SOLUTIONS

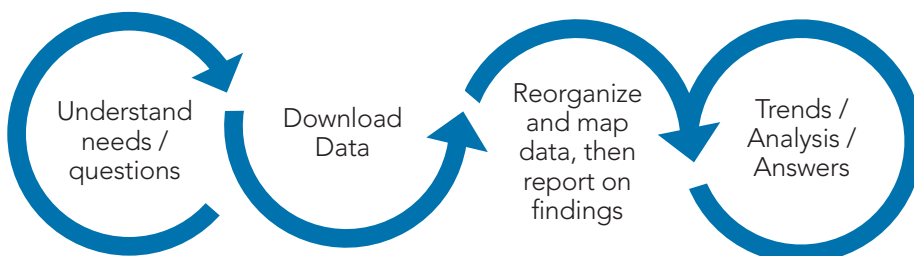

Data can be overwhelming and hard to understand. If not managed carefully, information can get lost in the shuffle and vital data can get overlooked. By making your information concise and easy to manage, Warren Averett's data analysis experts are here to take the burden off your shoulders. Using a tailored approach, our team will aid you in understanding what your data means. No red tape, complications or confusion, just answers and solutions.

Our experienced data analysis professionals have the resources to serve unique client requests. Our team can provide information to those needing a clearer understanding of their data, as well as answers to unusual questions. Our experienced team focuses on diving into your data and retrieving useful information—from cash disbursements or receipts, vendor information, investment statements or employee listings.

Whether you have a game plan, or aren't sure where to start, Warren Averett can provide the details to assist you.

1 A review from our client's accounting software enabled our team to locate unusual and duplicate payments to the same vendor or address - all surprises to the client.

2 Within hours of our client suspecting fraud, our team was able to locate the fraudulent activity and identify the amount stolen. The Company was able to take disciplinary actions and use the extracted data to change policies and add controls.

3 Upon a review of accounts payable and cash disbursement details, the team identified duplicate payments that were being made using the same invoice numbers. Our client was able to contact those vendors and request reimbursement.
