Matthew Frooman is a Member in the Tax Division of Warren Averett where his practice includes a wide variety of business and individual client matters. He's a member of the Firm's Manufacturing and Distribution Industry Group, and he serves on the Firm's Executive Committee and Operations Board. He has extensive experience with income tax compliance and planning for corporations, partnerships, trusts and individuals, including having worked with a number of multi-state and inbound and outbound foreign business clients, many with heavy capital and/or personnel investments. Matthew's experience has included special projects involving mediation relating to litigation support (including divorce) matters, purchases and sales of businesses and real estate, and Internal Revenue Service examinations. He's particularly adept at locating and executing opportunities to amend new clients' prior tax returns for tax refunds, and at identifying tax incentives and improved tax filing positions on a current and ongoing basis for continued tax savings. His experience with incentives includes R&D credits, jobs credits, retraining credits, buying film, low income housing and historic credits, cost segregation studies, ESOPs, captives, conservation strategies, etc. Clients have called him "tenacious" in his approach to finding the best results for them. They value the creativity and acumen he brings to the table, his ability to communicate complex tax matters in an understandable way, and his integrity and commitment to the Firm's 5-STAR client service.
